

Think not your journey done . . .

Jerry,
Howdy, kiddo.
Oh well. another year has come and gone and you're still the same - pretty as ever!
I must say your taste in men has changed (for the better?). I'm just kiddin'
- You and Frank are a perfect couple!
I know I'll see ya around in the summer so no tearful goodbyes! And I know I'll see ya hangin' out in auto (again) next year so I'll stop in to see ya sometime...
Love,
Jayce

Terri,

Well it was really a lot of fun in auto shop bidding around with you and everything we did.
Thank for filling out all my sheets and helping me. Take auto 2 next year. Have fun with Frank during the summer.

Love,
Warren

Terri,
It was casual getting to know you
This year. For sure
I'll see you in Frank
This summer.

Pat

Think not your journey done,
For though your ship may be sturdy,
No mercy has the sea,
Will you survive on the ocean of being?
Come ancient children,
Hear what I say,
This is my parting counsel
For you on your way.
Genisis

Freedom lies in being bold!

The night has a thousand eyes,
And the day but one;
Yet the light of the bright world dies,
With the dying sun.

not in the clamor of the not in the shouts and plaudits of the throng,

but in ourselves, are triumphs

I love all waste
And solitary places;
Where we taste the pleasure
Of believing what we see
Is boundless,
As we wish our souls to be.

Each moment we have shared

Sweepstakes at Whittier Climaxes Season

1974-75 was a very successful year for our Patriot's Marching Band. Starting off the season with summer practices that were endured by the veterans and begroaned by the new, our musicians got a head start. Striving for perfection, they headed for various competitions, where they did exceptionally well. Our band once again lived up to its rating and the Patriot tradition.

Accenting this year's marchers was the Drill Team. Precision and concentration were stressed in this aspect of performance. They also captured various titles and offered stiff competition to other schools. Our girls maintained great self-discipline and displayed team effort which resulted in meeting their own high standards.

The final outcomes of the 1974-75 Band and Drill Team year are as follows:

Orange Competition	Second Place
Brea Jamboree	No Judging
Chaffey	Fourth running up
Western Concourse of Champions	No Judging

Rah-Rah Girls Add Spark

Moments invading my mind, covered by long lasting impressions. We have learned to give and take for others, and to share alike. We receive each others tears of sorrow, and rejoice together in great victory. A simple smile of gladness fills us with warmth that grasps our unique bond.

We strive to achieve a significant goal.

"To better ourselves as leaders.
To be confident with knowledge.
To be able to reach a certain pride to hold strong,
to our fellowship."

We have united together as people to learn to cope with others, enabling us to understand. And to understand each other is one stride closer to Love.

But overall, by becoming a leader, we have grown up fast. And the moments in-between will forever last.

Hi-Jinx Generates Enthusiasm

It was in late January that the all new 1975 Hi-Jinx Show made its debut. The show, under the direction of Mr. Jim Phillips, opened January thirtieth. But the mechanics began weeks earlier. The show consisted of thirteen individual acts and a finale including everyone in the show singing the theme song "The Windmills of Your Mind."

This year's Hi-Jinx, unlike years past, included both male and female performers. This was not the only new change, however. The show took place in our Performing Arts Complex instead of the gym. Because of this the groups were much smaller and more closely knit. Contrary to the traditional song and dance routines performed by groups consisting of as many as fifteen persons, some performers chose to sing solos or play an instrument. Several organizations became involved this year, such as MECHA, Girls League, and the Pepettes.

When the curtain rose on opening night, the audience really didn't know quite what to expect, but by the end of the first act everyone was sitting back in their chairs relaxing and enjoying the show. After the performance ended it was plain to see this year's 1975 Hi-Jinx show not only proved versatile, but truly generated enthusiasm.

Drama Season Premieres With "UTBU"

Lowell's talented thespians detonated the play "UTBU" from October 30 through November 1, as they proved that it is indeed unhealthy to be unpleasant.

The plot revolved around an organization which eliminates unpleasant people by blowing them up. The time is the present and the setting is the Manhattan apartment of J. Francis Amber overlooking the East River. The organization has set its intentions on J. Francis Amber, who is slowly poisoning his mother, Shirley Amber. As each of the characters were unveiled, interest was stimulated even more so. The leads were played by Tim Miller as J. Francis Amber and Janne Suzukawa as Shirley Amber. William Uggins was portrayed by Robin Young.

The play was directed by Mr. Lee Hollenbeck, with Mr. Barry Hill as Technical Director. Mrs. Linda Bailey was in charge of costumes and makeup.

Truly starting off the season with a bang, "UTBU" was an indicator of future success.

"South Pacific" Creates a Big Splash!

"South Pacific," the famous Rodgers and Hammerstein musical, was presented in all its South Sea splendor as Lowell's winter musical for 1975. Mr. Lee Hollenbeck was the general director of this production about the romance between a wealthy French plantation owner, Emile de Becque, and a navy nurse from Arkansas, Ensign Nellie Forbush. The play is set in the islands of the South Pacific amid the chaos of World War II. Also amorously involved are Lt. Joseph Cable and the beautiful Tonkinese girl, Liat, whose love affair ends tragically. Providing powerful characters to round out the drama are Bloody Mary, Liat's 300 pound mother and the comic seabee, Luther Billis.

The leading performers in the musical were as follows: Bob Holmes, Emile de Becque; Penny Swanson, Nellie Forbush; Jeff Hammond, Lt. Cable; Janne Suzukawa, Liat; Dawn Sapp, Bloody Mary; Dan Radlauer, Luther Billis. A chorus of sailors and islanders completed the setting. The other directors for the play were as follows: Mr. Jim Phillips, orchestra; Mrs. Linda Bailey, make-up and costume; Mr. Paul Bucalstein, choreography and technical; Mr. Lloyd Darnell, choral.

The many talented members of the cast, the orchestra, the directors, and the make-up, technical and lighting crews, spent many weeks in preparation for this production. The cast and crew received a standing ovation on closing night, which obviously indicated that the play was a smash.

Modern Dance Seeks "A Separate Reality"

"A Separate Reality" was the theme for the 1975 modern dance concert. The concert took place in the Performing Arts Complex April 10 and 11.

The entire show, consisting of as many as twenty dances including an introduction and a finale, was carried by only eighteen performers. Juniors and Seniors made up the largest part of the company; however, two sophomores also added their talents this year.

Four light dances, four serious dances, five solos, three duets, and two trios were presented. What made the show even more rewarding was the fact that all of the dances except for one were choreographed by the dancers themselves, including the introduction and finale.

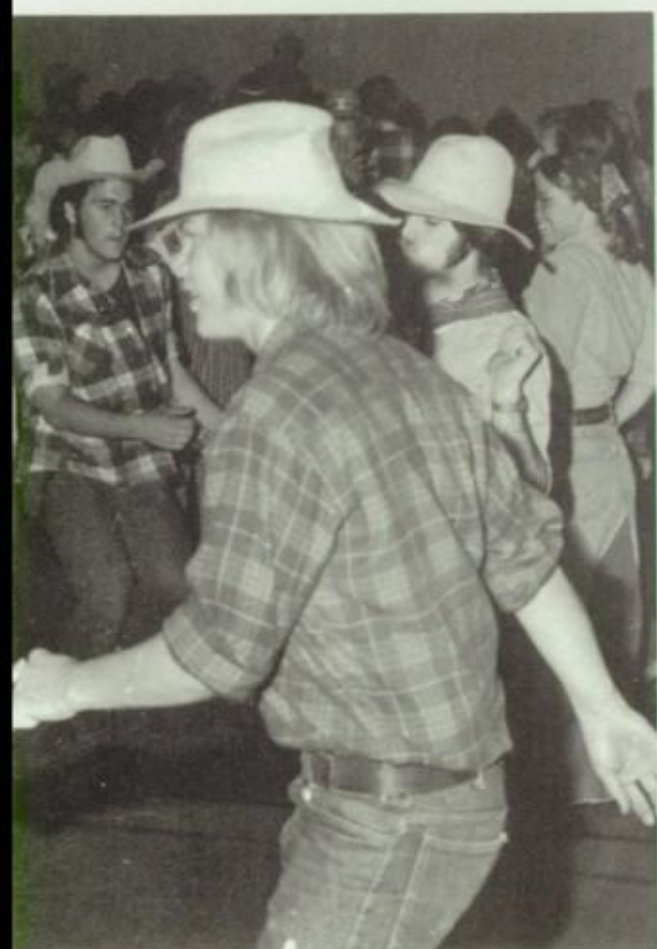

Miss Kingett, a new addition to Lowell's teaching staff, directed the show. She spent countless hours after school with the girls helping them prepare for the long awaited concert.

When the day finally arrived, the audience watched the "Frolicking Fairies" and "Intervals of Insanity"; dances which helped them to understand a little more about their "Separate Reality."

What did it mean to you? Was it a burrito or an apple fight or just fighting your way through the lunchline? We all had one thing we shared here at Lowell, and that was our midday break.

How did you spend yours?.....

An Alternative Method Is Successful at Lowell

For the first time in the history of Lowell, an alternative method of learning has been offered to the student. The Alternative School at Lowell is separate, yet contained within the traditional means of education. It offers a new type of learning experience and is "a logical extension of the old system."

Aided by the advisor-leader group of Margaret Doyle, Fred Lentz, and John Stevenson, the hundred students enrolled in this school formulated their own curriculum through learning agreements. These agreements were effective in that they were flexible and permitted the student to explore many varied areas of learning.

As stated in the introductory pamphlet to ASL, some of the main values of the school are the emphasis on being, rather than the quality of knowing; being able to make the important decisions about what one learns and for whom, and being an individual.

This method of education enabled the student to experience learning on a broad plane, and offered students an opportunity to learn in different ways to discover their own strengths, needs, and ways to meet their needs.

Annual Staff Journeys Through the Year

Beginning with a summer workshop, which ran through the last two weeks of June, and the first two weeks of July, the Annual staff got off to a head start this year.

In this workshop the new members of the staff learned the basic fundamentals by putting a mock yearbook together. The staff was divided into different groups, headed by the old members of the staff. Each group chose a theme, and carried it through the book by the cover, inside sheet, opening section, division page, and the closing section. When the books were completed, they were presented to the rest of the staff by each group.

From these different "yearbooks" the final theme, "Think Not Your Journey Done" was chosen. It symbolizes the fact that even though as a senior you are finishing your years in high school, you are really only beginning your journey in life.

When the school year started, the Annual staff quickly began putting their book together, and by working steadily they were able to finish it in time for their final deadline in April.

EXTRA! EXTRA! Read All About It

CAMPUS CRIER CO-EDITORS: Marc Downs, Randy James

Although hampered by a lack of funds, the CAMPUS CRIER staff did manage an exceptional paper when published. Printed professionally for the first time in several years, the newspaper staff had to buck the reputation of being a mimeograph effort.

Meeting the deadlines often required many after school hours writing and rewriting stories, cropping pictures and setting up dummies; all was involved in the preparation for the long drive to the printers in Orange.

This year's edition of the CAMPUS CRIER included a column on sports entitled: Cogs Corner. Such opinion sections as Marc's Marque and Randy's Readout were also added additions to this year's newspaper.

A special six page edition saluting the graduating class of 1975 climaxed the year for the twenty members of the staff. Seniors Marc Downs and Randy James served as co-editors for the aspiring journalists.

Orators Reach Prominence

Resolved: The United States should significantly change the method of selecting presidential and vice-presidential candidates. That being the National Debate Topic for the 1974-75 school year made for an interesting and challenging year.

Under the dedicated coaching of Linda Church, this year's speakers and debaters reached amazing heights. Thanks to the varsity speakers and an exceptional group of novices, the Sweepstakes Trophy was captured at the First Novice Debate Tournament at La Habra High School, the First Novice Speech Tournament at Kennedy High School, the Second Novice Debate Tournament at Edison High School, the Spring Open Debate Tournament at Tustin High School, and the Beverly Hills Invitational Speech and Debate Tournament.

The students themselves walked away with over sixty individual trophies. The team of Mike Moses and Neil Pedersen qualified to go to the State Tournament in debate at Cal Poly Pomona.

Next year looks promising with over half of the squad returning and many planning on attending the speech and debate clinic this summer at Redlands University.

Senior Officers

Striving to make this year a more spirited one, Mike Moses gave his all to bring patriotism back to the seniors. A castle decorating contest was held during Spirit Week as well as the highly successful senior pancake breakfast. The senior class held many fund-raising activities to bring in money for the Senior All-Night Party, which was held this year at the beautiful Coto de Casa.

Under the leadership of Julie Perez, the junior class proved their spirit supreme by directing their enthusiasm towards many worthy activities. During Spirit Week a root beer drinking contest was held and two playnites followed.

The great debate over the Junior-Senior Prom; whether to go traditional or Hawaiian was mainly in the hands of the juniors. Traditional which won out showed us that some pride and dignity are still left in Lowell High. The Prom was held at the Balboa Pavillion with many juniors working behind the scenes to help make it a successful event. This was just one of their many accomplishments.

Sophomore Officers

Under the direction of Kyle Raugust, the sophomores were off to a dynamic start. As Spirit Week approached, a tug-o-war was planned for the mighty sophomores. This was a great success as well as the sophomore playnites throughout the year. Involved in all aspects of Student Life, sophomores made specific contributions to the school, including their highly undefeated sophomore football team. Very active all along, the sophomores turned out to be our most spirited class.

From that day on, the freshmen have been ont step ahead in their pride and spirit for Lowell High.

Practice Makes Perfect for Patriots

School days too long for you? Don't complain about long school hours to any of the athletes on campus. To build the conditioning needed to even be a contender in any of the sports, whether it be for running off-tackle, fighting for a rebound, or returning a serve, Patriot athletes put in countless hours of practice. Their days start long before most students are awake, and usually end around two hours after school has been let out. Water polo, basketball, and football began practices during the summer, while cross country started their conditioning program in September. Wrestling started training in November, and swimming, baseball, tennis, and track commenced workouts in January.

Varsity Squeeze into CIF

Having their best season in ten years, the Varsity Football Team placed third in league (because of a co-championship), and took their first trip to C.I.F. since 1964.

The opening game of the season was tough, but it ended up 21 to 14 in favor of Sonora, and the Varsity had lost the very first game on the schedule. But it was after this that they started their winning ways. The Patriots won a close one against cross-town rivals La Habra with the help of Richard Cruz who kicked three field goals to tie the C.I.F. record and lead the team to a 9 to 3 win. The next week against Troy, the gridders won the first of many upsets this year, as they overpowered the number three ranked team in C.I.F. by eleven points. After a loss to Fullerton, who incidentally finished tied for first in league, and a win over Buena Park, the Varsity pulled another upset by beating Sunny Hills in the Homecoming game. Later they lost to the other team who tied for first, which was Santa Ana Valley.

In their final league game, however, with a crushing victory against Savanna, they attained a C.I.F. Playoff berth. In the first round, of which there are five rounds altogether, the Patriots traveled to Santa Maria where they had their final upset of the year when they beat the Saints by three points. They closed out the season in the second round with a loss to Culver City.

With his outstanding linebacking and place kicking, Richard Cruz was awarded the Most Valuable Player. Also, senior tackle Brent Boyd was elected the Most Inspirational Player. In addition to this, both Richard Cruz and Brent Boyd, along with Jamie Davenport, Scott Bruckner, Nels Jensen and Bob Hendren made the First Team All League. Richard Cruz, also, made the Second Team and Brent Boyd made the First Team All Orange County.

While acting with great poise, (middle), Sam moves the team steadily down field in the Homecoming game against Sunny Hills. Making the clutch catch is always important, (below), and receiver Dean Barnett shows that he can do it.

Pats Shock Santa Maria

Defensive end Scott Peirano, (right), relieving Santa Ana's runner of his jersey, meets Valley's attempt on an end-around. San Menchaca, (middle right), gets ready to fire his team into action as he is calling the signals. Being eyed on the sidelines, (middle left), Dean Barnett receives help for a slight injury. With a perfect demonstration of how the sweep should be run, (below), the Lowell runner makes a sizable gain.

Sophs Reap Championship

In their first league game the sophomores suffered a 13-14 defeat at the hands of La Habra. This was, however, to be the only flaw in their otherwise perfect season as they ended up an 8 and 1 record to become League Champions.

The main credit for this season lies in the tough play of the defensive unit. They only allowed 40 points throughout the entire schedule. But games aren't won by defense alone. This was illustrated by the consistently good play of the offensive unit. With the help of tough line blocking, the backfield was able to score 191 points this season.

Besides the loss to La Habra, there were two other games that were very close. In back-to-back contests against Sunny Hills and Santa Ana Valley, the Patriots came from behind to win by one point in each case.

Due to his excellent line play throughout the season, Jim Cain was selected by the team as the Most Valuable Player.

Trying the extra point is Nic Artukovich, (top), who will probably be the Varsity kicker next year. Placing down the ball is Mat Plum. The offensive unit set, (middle), ready for the play.

Although smaller than last year's team, the freshmen managed to fight their way to a better record and end up second in league. As explained by coach Sutton, "All the games were tight, but there was no last minute scoring."

This season wasn't uneventful, however, as the Patriots beat Sunny Hills when the Lancers were undefeated and unscored on. The next week they lost by only one point to Santa Ana Valley, who were favored by twelve at Santa Ana's home field.

The Most Valuable Player, who was elected by the team at the end of the season, was tailback Ron Lindsay.

Poloists Improve On Record

The Lowell Water Polo Team, although having only three returning players from the '73-'74 squad, achieved their best record in three years. Behind the scoring of Marc Downs, the Patriots fought through a tough Freeway League to finish fifth.

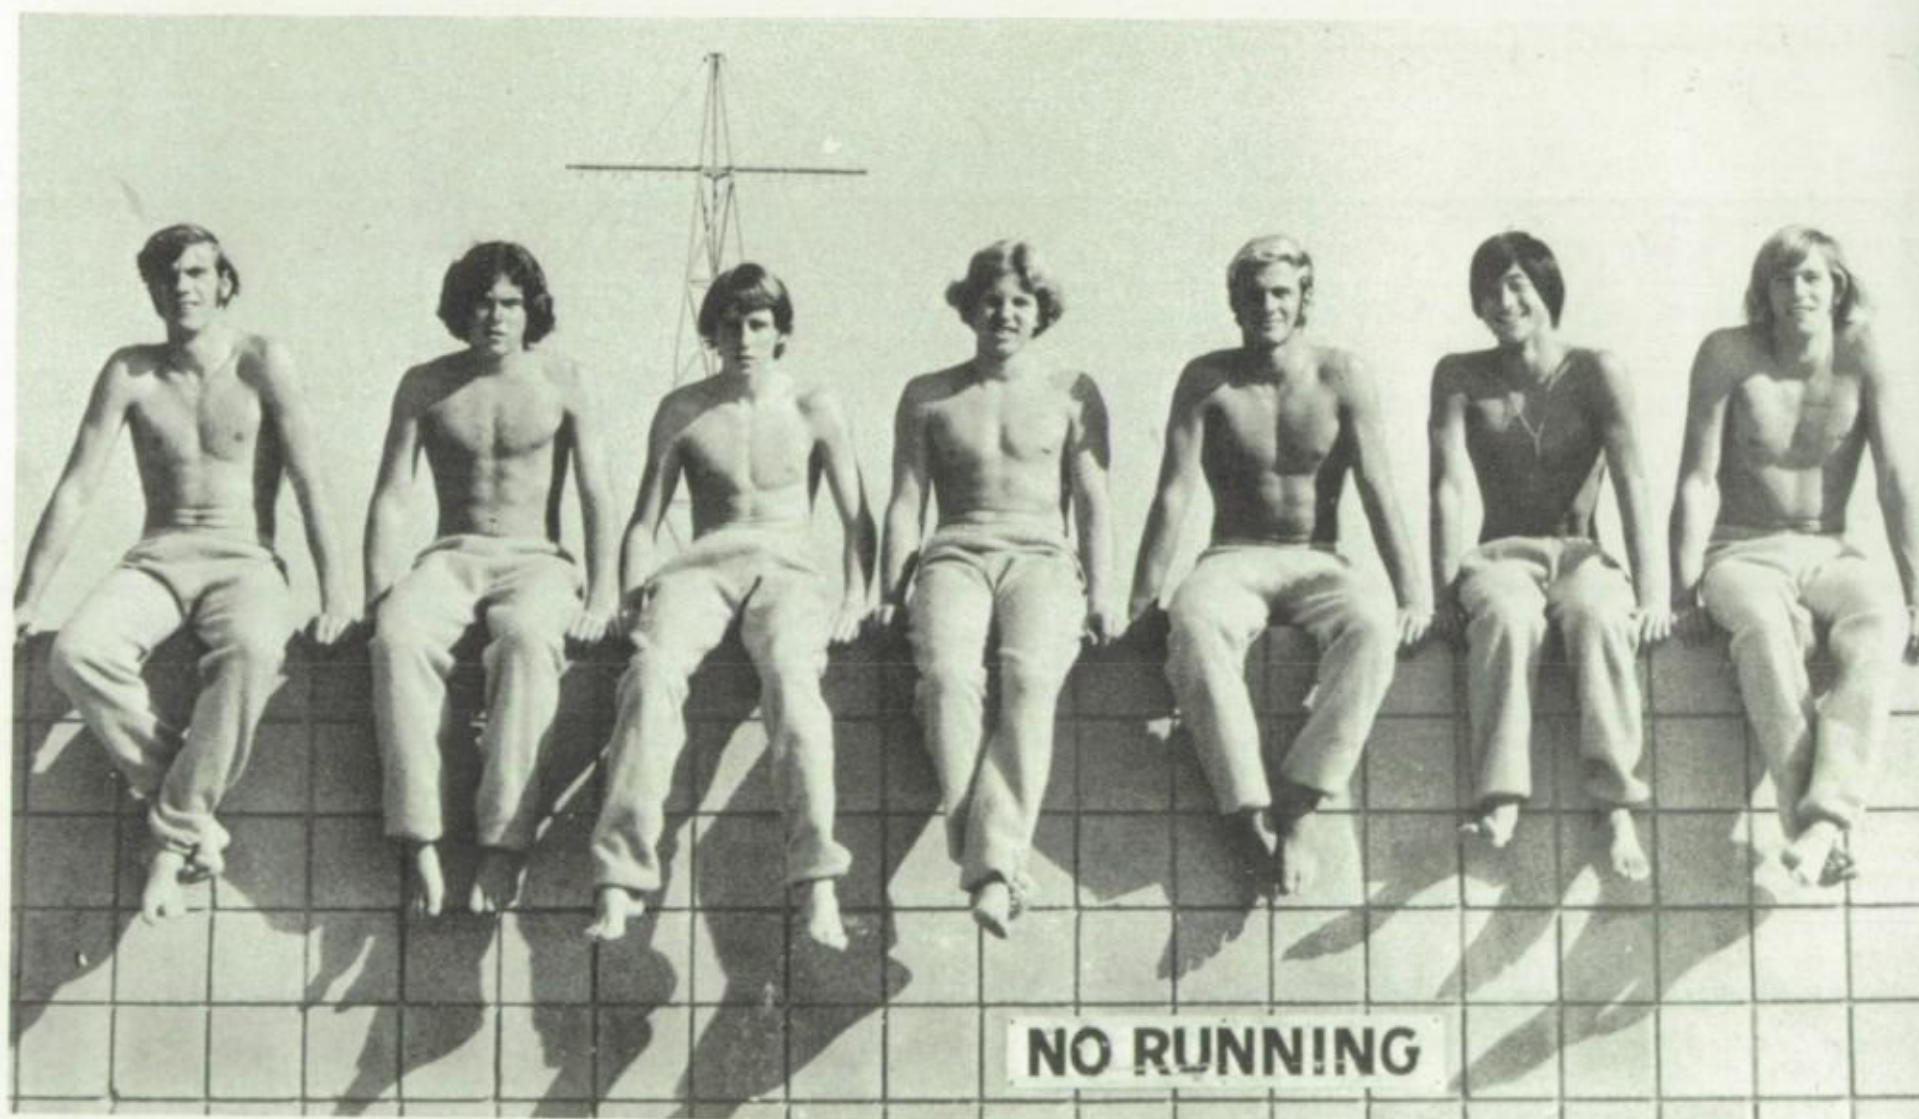

Having a rough start, the Poloists defeated only one of the first four teams that they played. Then they caught fire and won three of the next four games, including their first league win in over two years. However, the Patriots hit a slump (and the best teams in the league), and dropped all their remaining contests except the season closer, in which they beat Santa Ana Valley.

Marc Downs was selected Most Valuable, and Most Inspirational went to Brent Yamauchi. Brent Yamauchi was also named to the Second Team All League and Robert Mitchell received an All League Honorable Mention.

Doing an ad for Crest (left), Robert Mitchell shows off his teeth as he takes off for the sprint. And when you are a polo player, there is still time for fun and games. Although quite a "soggy" joke, Coach Harrison (below) still chuckles at his impromptu dip while Steve Manley laughs along.

Junior Varsity Wins Tournament

Winning a tournament was the highlight of the Junior Varsity Season last year. They took the first place trophy by beating Laguna Beach, Monte Vista, and El Rancho. The only close contest was with Monte Vista, when the J.V.'s had to score a goal in the last seconds to win 8-7.

Being mostly a building team for the Varsity, the J.V.'s enjoyed a good, productive season. Although winning only five games (three of them in the tournament), they gained valuable experience for next year.

F-S Flounders

Due to the lack of size and swimming ability, the Frosh-Soph were swamped last season as they struggled to a 2-8 record. Experience also played a factor, as practically all of the poloists were freshmen. Because of this, Coach DeCrona stressed fundamentals all year. The one thing that impressed Coach DeCrona was the team's great attitude. "They were always ready to work at each practice. It was just fantastic."

The Frosh-Soph Team voted the Most Valuable Player Trophy to Richard Harris.

Varsity Runs Off With C.I.F. Crown

Four out of seven high school All-American positions went to Lowell runners this year. They were Scott Fessenden, the Freeway League Champ, Jack McBroom, who finished third in league, Mike McGarry, the team's captain, and Craig Mitchell, who finished fourth in league. Coach Palmer's team also had Dave Argyle finish fifth in league. Fessenden was the team's Most Valuable Player, while McGarry took the Most Inspirational Player award. Out of seven dual meets this year the Patriots were undefeated and unscored on. In four tournaments they finished either first or second. They went into the Mt. Sac C.I.F. runoffs rated first in the southern section which includes Los Angeles schools. The Harriers took first place in AAA C.I.F. and were also the number three team in California.

Young Varsity Cagers Face Annoyances

Injuries, inexperience, and immaturity seemed to be the basis for the year of disappointments and frustrations that the varsity cagers experienced this season. The only returning letterman, Dave Fiely, was the first player struck by injury. In fact, it was after only eleven seconds had passed in the very first game on the schedule that he broke his ankle. Besides Fiely, Dave Dickinson was bothered by knee problems all season. Also the fact that there were seven underclassmen on the squad made the team leadership a bit of a problem.

Out of the ten league losses this year, five of them were dropped by only five points or less. In three of the other five league losses, the Pats led going into the final period. So in all reality, eight of the ten losses could have possibly been wins.

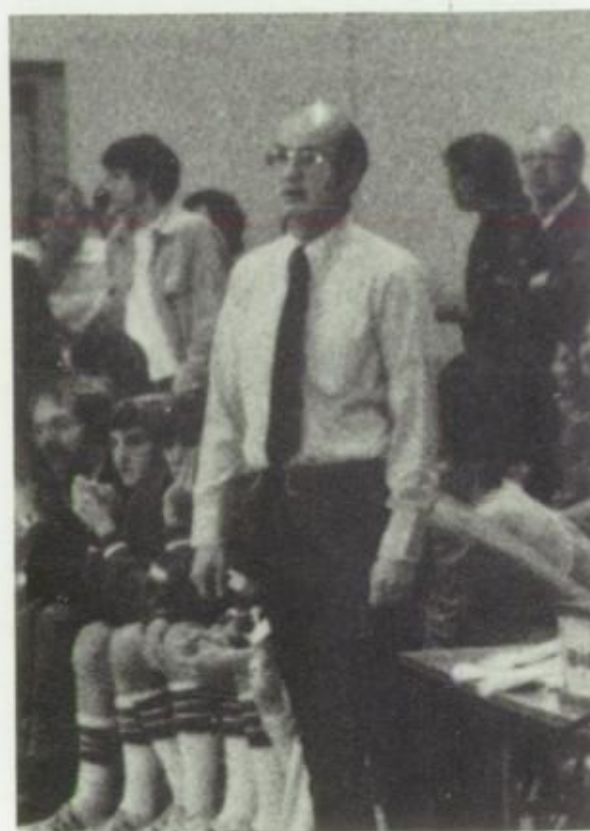

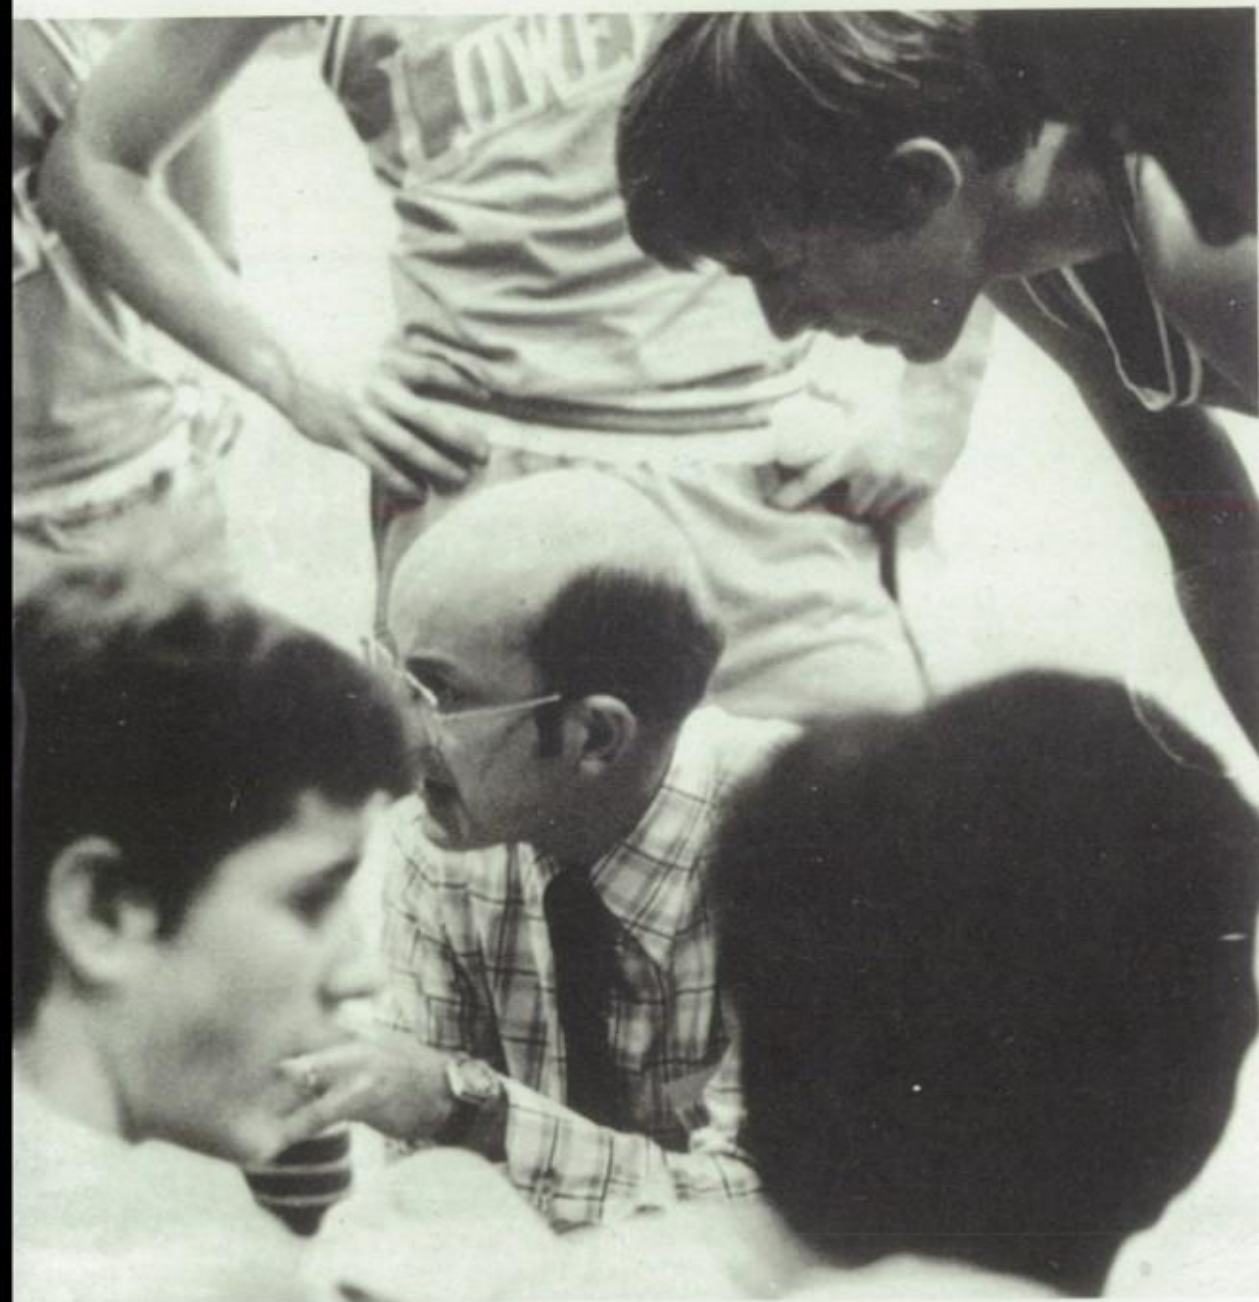

The two wins over Sunny Hills were probably the high points of the season. The thing that always makes the games with the Lancers interesting is that coach Gottula came to Lowell from Sunny Hills only two years ago. But this year was very beneficial to the team as it was good for the development of the underclassmen, next year's returning varsity squad.

By averaging over twenty points per game, junior Don Hoffman was elected the Most Valuable Player. He was also named to the first team all-league for his outstanding performance. Other awards went to senior Mike Harvey, Most Inspirational; sophomore Rick Floyd, Most Improved; and junior Dave Dickinson, Butcher Of The Year (most fouls).

Patriot Pride

Winning the first annual Lowell J.V. Christmas tournament, with the help of Ron Heil and Greg Hucko who made the all tournament team, was only a part of this year's impressive season. The cagers passed the first test by beating Sunny Hills for the first time in seven years. Then in the first game of the second round against Buena Park, who were undefeated and in first place, the Pats came through again. Behind Jay Hughes, who scored 36 points in the contest, they beat the Coyotes by 12. They had a nine game home winning streak going when they lost to first place Fullerton.

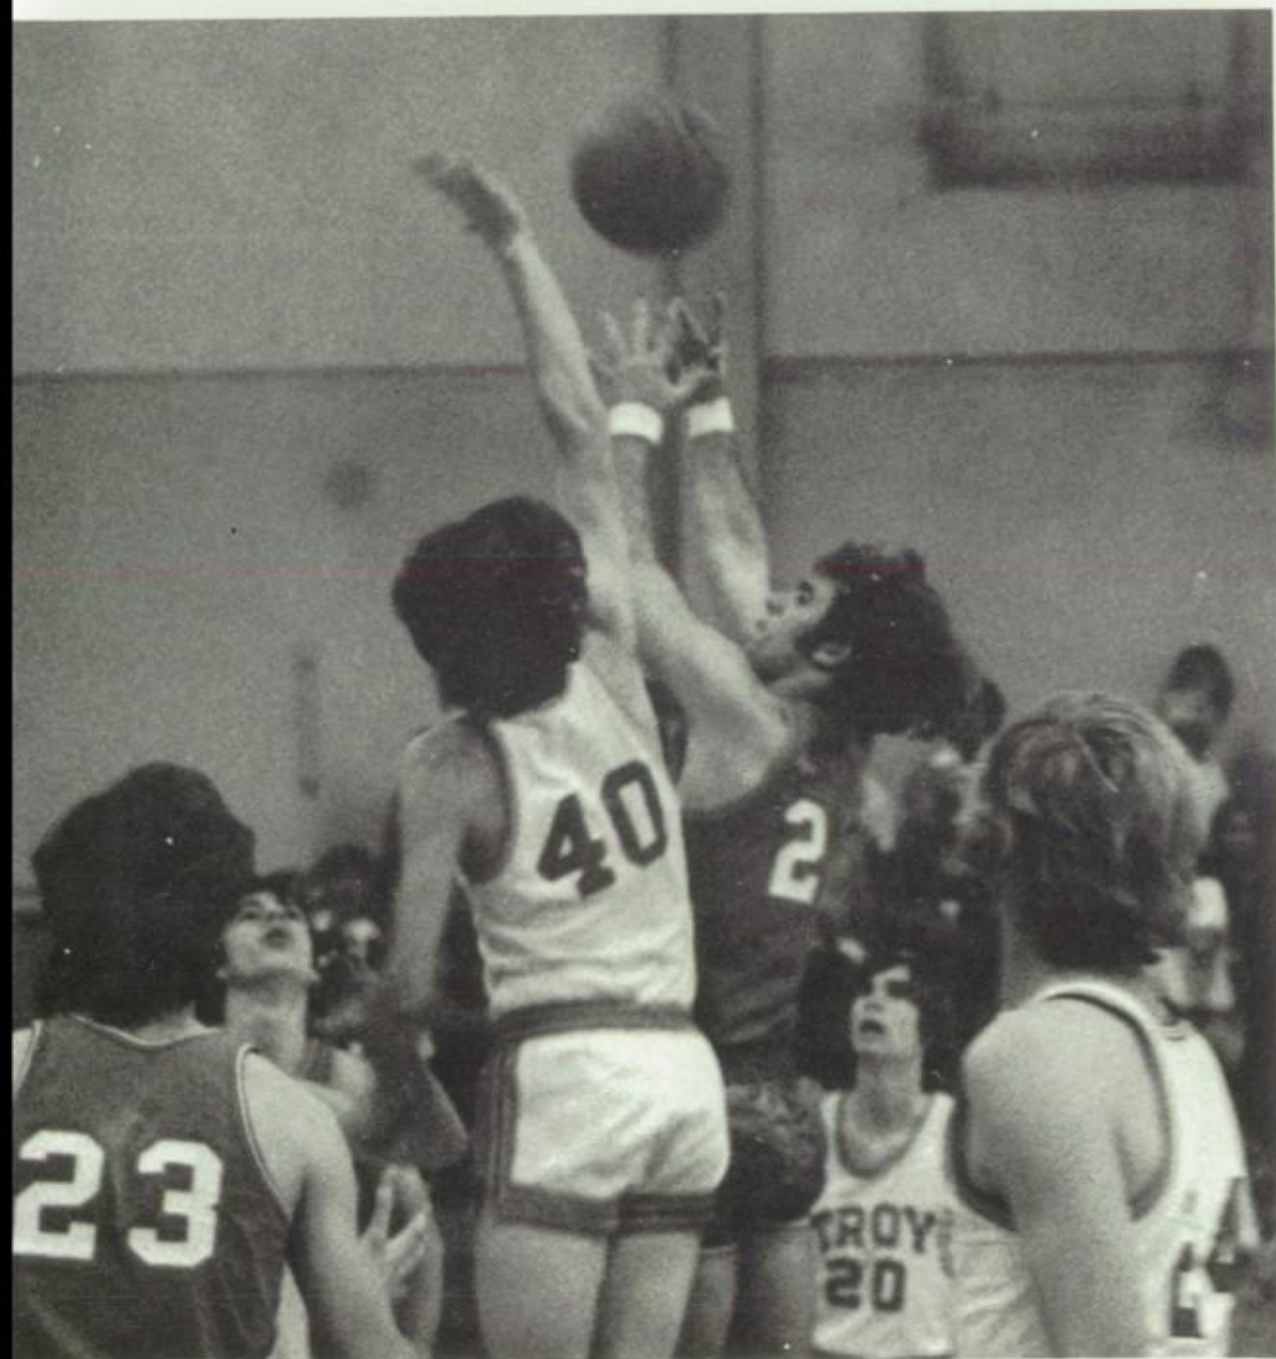

Greg Hucko was the leading scorer on the team with a total of 250 points and Doug Ellison controlled the boards by averaging over 15 rebounds a game. J.V. captain Brian McGuire was M.V.P.

Pressure Makes Difference With Sophs

It looked like the sophomore cagers were in trouble when they came into the first league game without a win. But a big change occurred when the pressure was put on. It seemed like they waited until league came before they started playing basketball. Lowell became the only team to beat first place Sunny Hills when they pulled an upset in the first round. At the end of the season, the sophs had a nine and five league record and a firm grip on third place.

Mark Smith was the squad's captain, with Jon Abramson, Kirk Gillis and this year's sophomore Most Valuable Player Kent Ross as the co-captains. Freshman John Doak was the leading scorer on the team.

Freshmen's Super Attitude To No Avail

"They all had a super attitude and hung in there," is what freshmen coach Ron DeCrona had to say about his team this year. Although they got a slow start, the squad worked hard and finished out the season strong.

The team was headed up by Mark Ledbetter who shot forty-five percent from the field and better than eighty-five percent from the free-throw line.

Even though the team didn't have a captain, Mark came about the closest to being it because at the conclusion of the season he was elected the M.V.P.

This year's Varsity Wrestling Team was an improved group over last year's team. With a tougher schedule to meet, the Patriots finished third in league with a 4-2-1 record. The competitiveness of the Freeway League can be shown by the fact that Sonora finished second in their league, even though they were beaten 60-6 by Lowell. By beating La Habra along with Sonora, the Patriots were crowned City Champs.

In tournaments this year, Lowell finished first at Bellflower, second at Baldwin Park, and fourth at Fullerton.

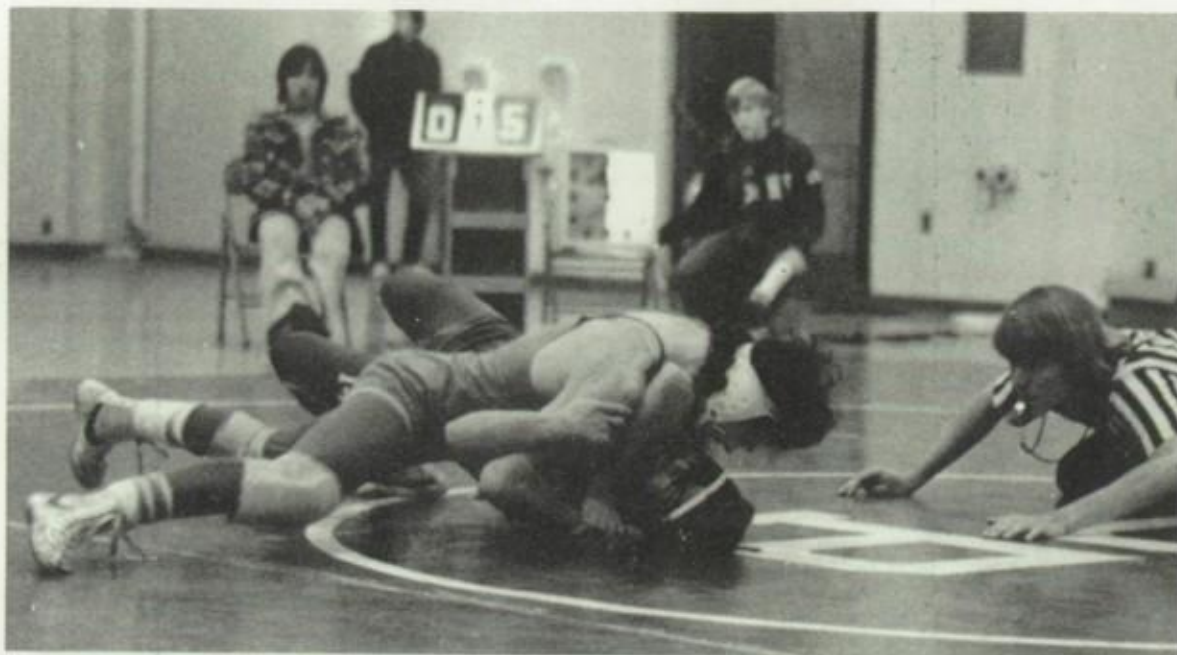

Individual accomplishments this year include Kris Qualls' pin of thirteen seconds, the fastest this year. Kris was also the Most Inspirational Wrestler. Kim Spence was the Most Valuable Wrestler, and also had the most pins this year, thirteen. Warren Muldoon was the Team Captain; John McPhillips was the Most Improved Wrestler, and Philip Starling was the Fish of the Year.

Patriot Swimmers Drown

The Varsity swimming team more or less drowned this season. Having only two returning lettermen, the Patriots struggled through a schedule that saw only one dual meet win. Adding to their problems was the fact that Coach Harrison suffered a major illness after the La Habra dual meet (coincidence, of course), and the swimmers were forced to practice with a substitute for the rest of the season. The substitute, Coach Swanson, proved to be very adept at being a swimming coach, however.

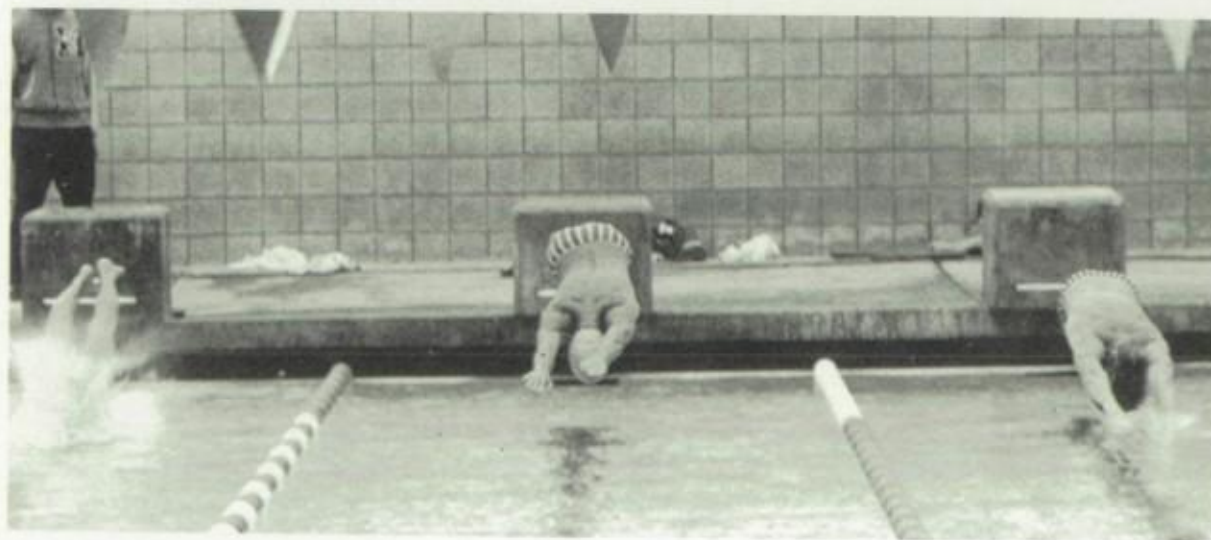

Leading the swimmers to their only win against Santa Ana Valley, Coach Swanson was promptly rewarded by taking a little swim when the Patriots returned from the meet. The one bright spot of the year was when Robert Mitchell qualified for C.I.F. Prelims at League Finals. Because of this feat, (and the fact that he scored the most points), Robert was voted the Most Valuable Swimmer. Selected Most Inspirational was Brent Yamauchi.

F.S. Swim To 3-8 Record

Having only a 3-8 record would seem to indicate a fairly rotten season. Such was not the case with the Frosh-Soph swim team, however. Each dual meet was a hard fought contest, and with the exception of one, all were up in the air until the last event. Having the "privilege" of molding the fifteen into a working team was Coach Swanson. He made excellent swimmer out of good swimmers in the case of John Woodling, Jeff Harris, and Ralph Searcy, and he made good swimmers out of average swimmers in the case of Kary Kasenberg and Mike Sciacca.

At the awards banquet, John Woodling was honored as the Most Valuable Swimmer on the Frosh-Soph team.

Looks are deceiving. Although John Woodling (top center) looks as if he's about ready to kick the bucket, in reality he feels like swimming another thousand yards (with a little bit of help from Coach Swanson and his paddle-tennis paddle). Hearing that she might have her picture taken (she's really quite modest), Denise Toombs (top right) tries to hide her face, but to no avail, since the camera lens sees all. Showing his perfect form, Ralph Searcy (left) shows how easy it is to swim (and win) the 200 freestyle during a dual meet against Kennedy.

Inexperience Aces the Tennis Team

Although hampered by inexperience and rain, the Varsity tennis team made it through the first half of the season with a respectable record of 3-4. The main problem that really hurt the Patriots was, according to Coach Singer, "... Out of six lettermen from last year's (Varsity) squad that still attend Lowell, only two came out. And from the J.V.'s, only one out of eight. It's hard to win without experience, and we're hurting for experience."

Coach Singer's hope that his team could receive some valuable practice during the pre-season was washed away by some very heavy April showers that cancelled all the tough pre-season games.

The team and Coach Singer were looking forward to the second half of the season, which they hoped with the experience gained through the first round of play, they could chalk-up a few more tallies under the win column.

Singer Pleased with J.V.'s

Comprised of a junior, five sophomores, and three freshmen, the Junior Varsity tennis team had only enthusiasm going for them. Since they were so young, the team didn't have the experience needed to be a contender in League. The best thing about this season, according to Coach Singer, was the high level of intersquad competition. "Fong, Kim, Kolnick, and Candioly were always rotating in and out of those last two positions on the J.V.'s. And Plount, Ontiveros, Peters, and Roberts were always challenging each other for the bottom two positions on the Varsity (no. 7 and 8). The top and bottom positions on the J.V.'s were always changing due to this great intersquad competition," he said, with obvious enjoyment. The Coach finished off by saying, "If the League Crown were decided by sheer determination and fantastic attitude, this group of guys would be Number One, hands down!"

Tracksters Stay Victorious

This year's varsity track team was undefeated with only three dual meets left in the season. Unfortunately, due to press time, it was impossible to record the rest of the season.

The squad was comprised of a great number of fine athletes, many of them with all-league performances. The backbone of the team throughout the season lay in the long distance races, the hurdles, and the field events.

Runners in the distance department were lead by senior Mark Fessenden. Mark was tops in the half mile, mile, and two mile races.

The hurdles were dominated by Randy James and Scott Bruckner who were outstanding in both the 70HH and the 120LH.

Patriot field event leaders were Dean Barnett and Mark Harris in the pole vault, Steve Streny in the shot, and Rick Sanchez in the long jump.

Batmen Strike 'em Hard

Patriot baseball got off to a slow start this year. A pre-season field relocation was partly the cause. Also to be blamed were the storms that rained out many early season games and practices. In an attempt to find the best defense, Coach Koehler used many players out of position. Without an experienced pitching staff and strong hitting, Lowell found themselves sinking in the standings.

Midway through the season though the Patriots gathered some steam and were on the move. They defeated Sunny Hills 10-9 and Santa Ana Valley 10-6. The next week found the Pats beating Savanna and cross-town rivals La Habra for a four game win streak.

Junior Varsity Slides Through the Year

Coach Crook carried a young team, mostly Sophomores, into action this year. Being an improved group over last year's team, they were able to build up leads through strong hitting and solid fielding. Unfortunately though, the pitching often lost those leads and sometimes the games. By mid-season Coach Crook was using Kevin Wilson as his number one pitcher. Hitting the ball well for the Patriots were Tony Sestini, Matt Plum, and Scott Shaw.

G.A.A. Enjoys First Year of C.I.F. Play

Joining C.I.F. was one of the most significant steps that the Girls' Athletic Association has ever taken. Interscholastic athletics for girls have always been withheld from expanding into a higher level of competition.

Varsity and junior varsity teams competed in up to nine sanctioned sports. Trophies were awarded to the champions of each sport. The girls were able to receive the recognition that they have so long deserved. The awards banquet highlighted the entire year where each girl was awarded for her individual outstanding achievements in athletics.

G.A.A. Board Plans Events

Elected by a vote of all G.A.A. members, the board presents ideas for activities which will provide funds and interest for G.A.A.

Putting on the Sadie Hawkins Dance was only one of the duties that the G.A.A. Board was involved with. The four girls who make up the board - Rena Kampa, Kim Hufford, Karen Agard and Heidi Love - put on the Mother-Daughter Dinner and Fashion Show and the Father-Daughter Play-Nite. They also organized a See's Sucker Sale, much to the pleasure of the local dentists. When they weren't in board meetings, the girls participated in many of the G.A.A. sports.

Under the competent leadership of Mrs. Waldman, the board was able to make this past year better than ever for G.A.A.

Volleyball Tallies A 5-5 Season Record

Although the Varsity Volleyball Team could come up with only a 5-5 season, there were many outstanding performers who showed fine talent which will be utilized in the future.

"We gained a lot of experience with such a young team. I look for some real good things in the next two years," commented Coach Waldman.

The Junior Varsity and Bee Teams both achieved outstanding seasons with records of 7-3 and 8-0 respectively. With the attitude of these players, almost any season could be considered a success.

Spiking is one of the hardest maneuvers in volleyball, but Cyndy Balkcom (top right) makes it look easy in the Sonora game. With blazing speed and great accuracy Tracey Woodling (above) demonstrates her skill at serving. Meanwhile, Caryn Reed (right) volleys to victory in the Lancers' gym.

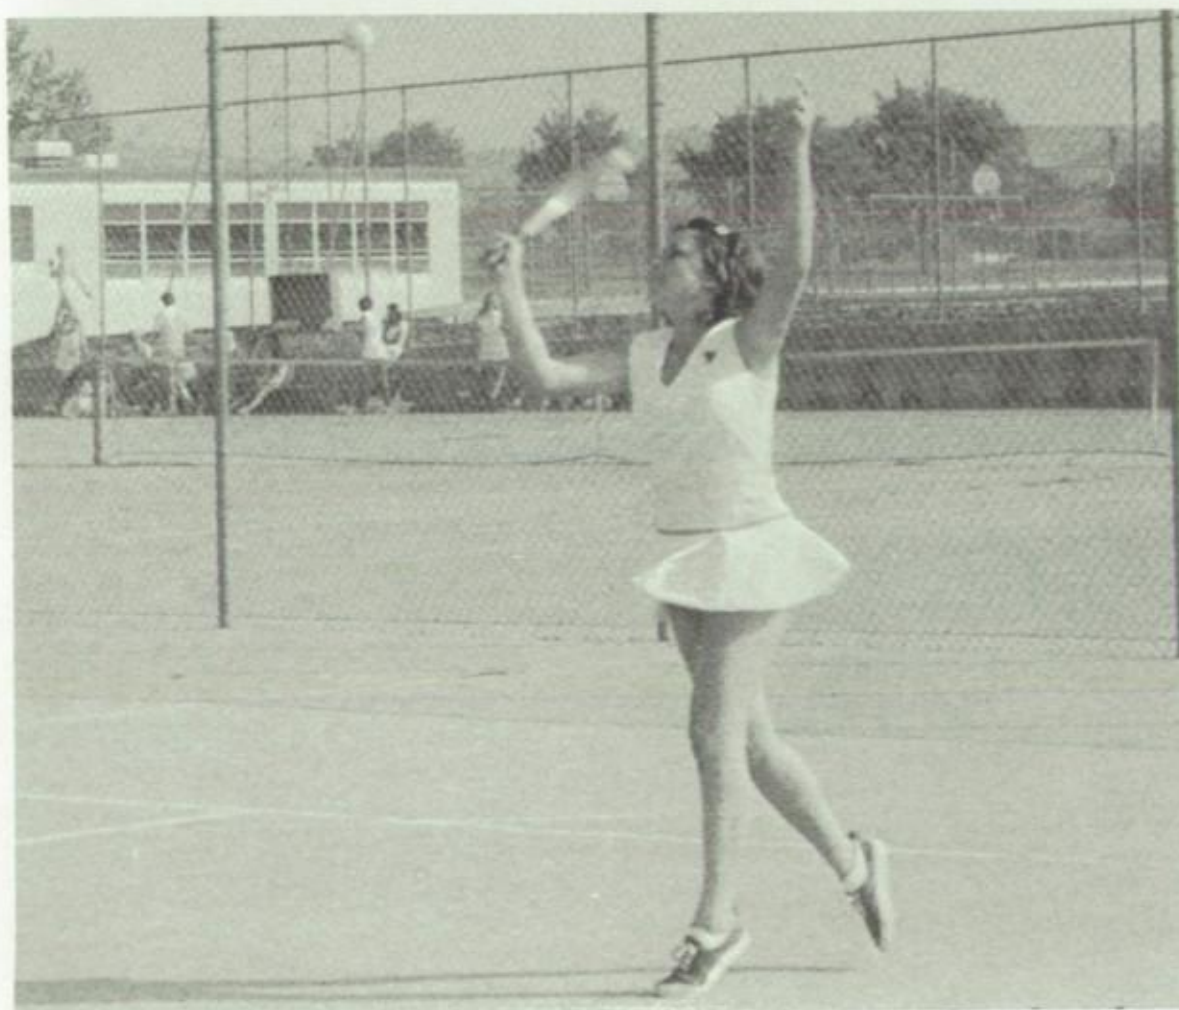

Girls' Tennis Team Falls Short of Title

Retaining the league title wasn't quite as easy as the Tennis Team had hoped. The team earned an impressive 8-2 season record but could only finish no higher than third in the standings.

"The team worked real hard. It showed in the team record. A few people have improved tremendously," Coach Wilson pointed out.

Two of the team's singles players, Karen Agard and Linda Herz, went to the C.I.F. sectionals and played a close game but in a losing effort.

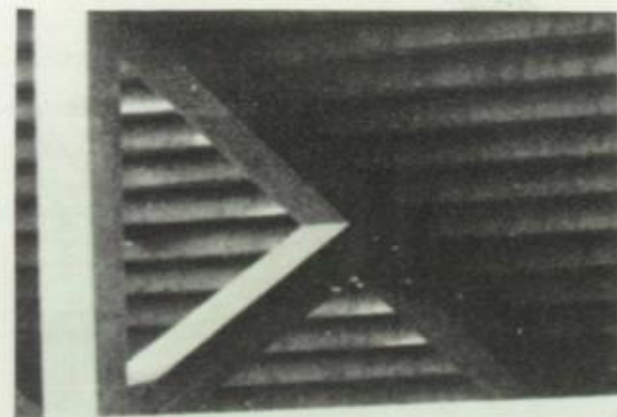

Aileen Hsu demonstrates the form that made her a winner (upper left) as she executes a two handed backhand shot. Kathy Horak (left) shows a bit of ballet as she volleys the ball back to her opponent. The backhand is also used by Sandy Bowman as Kim Hufford looks on (above).

Hockey Trips to 2-4 Year

Having a good season destroyed by a new time rule, the Hockey Team could only hack their way to a 2-4 record.

The new rule states that if a game should end in a tie, the team which has accumulated the most time inside their opponents 25 yard line shall be declared the winner. This rule was the direct cause of the varsity's four losses.

The Junior Varsity completed a well rounded season with a 3-3 record. This overall record placed them third in the league standings.

Upsetting Season For Cagers

J.V.'s Excel!

Mediocrity reigned over the Varsity girl cagers this past season. Juggling her starting lineups, Coach Virden could never come up with the right combination that could carry them through the season. The potential talent were there, but they couldn't seem to "get it together." As a result, they double-dribbled their way through a rather foul season.

On the other hand the J.V.'s had an excellent year sparked by the friendship and coaching of Miss Greene. The J.V.'s completed the basketball season with a 9-1 record. A total team effort and a spirited atmosphere led to their victorious season.

Using her magical powers, Linda Herz (upper left) commands the ball to go into the basket while Jan Warwick gets into position for the rebound ... just in case she flops. Claudia Schaklin (center) denies Valencia the offensive rebound by pulling the ball down for Lowell. Sandy Bowman (above) releases a 15 footer as Jan Warwick and Claudia Schaklin race in for the rebound.

Gymnastics Team Displays Their Agility

Hard work and concentration contribute to the agility, form, and grace of the Lowell Gymnasts. Training for nearly an entire year, the gymnastics team prepared for the tough competition that lay ahead. Being an individual sport, gymnastics demands a lot of self-discipline and self-motivation.

Although gymnastics looks like a very feminine sport, gymnasts actually go through a series of bumps and bruises to achieve their graceful-like appearance. Individual efforts by Cheri Cotta, Debbie Hisey, and Diane Groves led the team during the competitive season.

Tracksters Race For Title

Plagued by injuries and rain, Lowell's track team got off to a very slow start. The team this year had a lot of depth and strength. Not lacking runners in any event the Spikers entered the maximum number of three girls in each event.

Paced by long distance runners Juli Barr and Caryn Reed and short distance runners Diane Murphy, Dawn Bonker, and Barbara Milburn, the Patriot tracksters ran away with one of their best seasons.

Changes this year due to the C.I.F. rules consisted of dropping the 50 yard dash and softball throw and adding an endurance test for girls-the mile run.

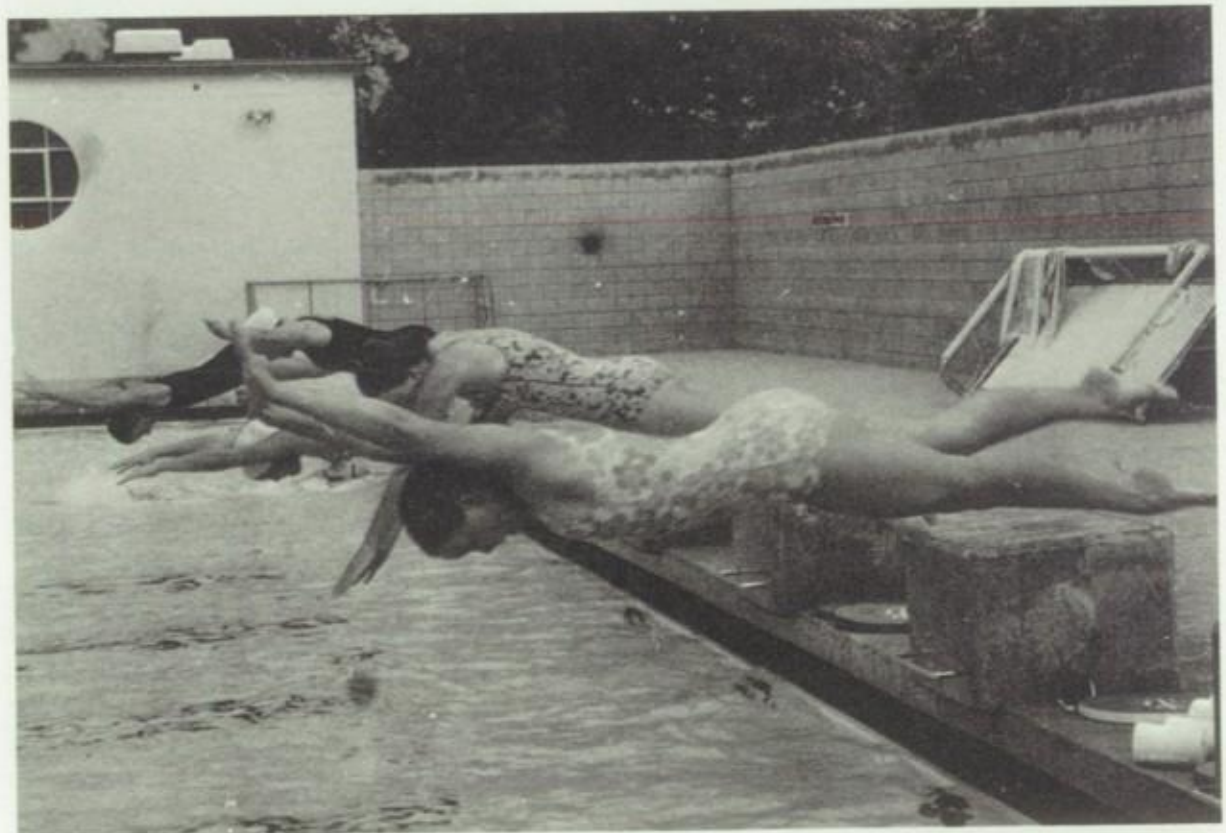

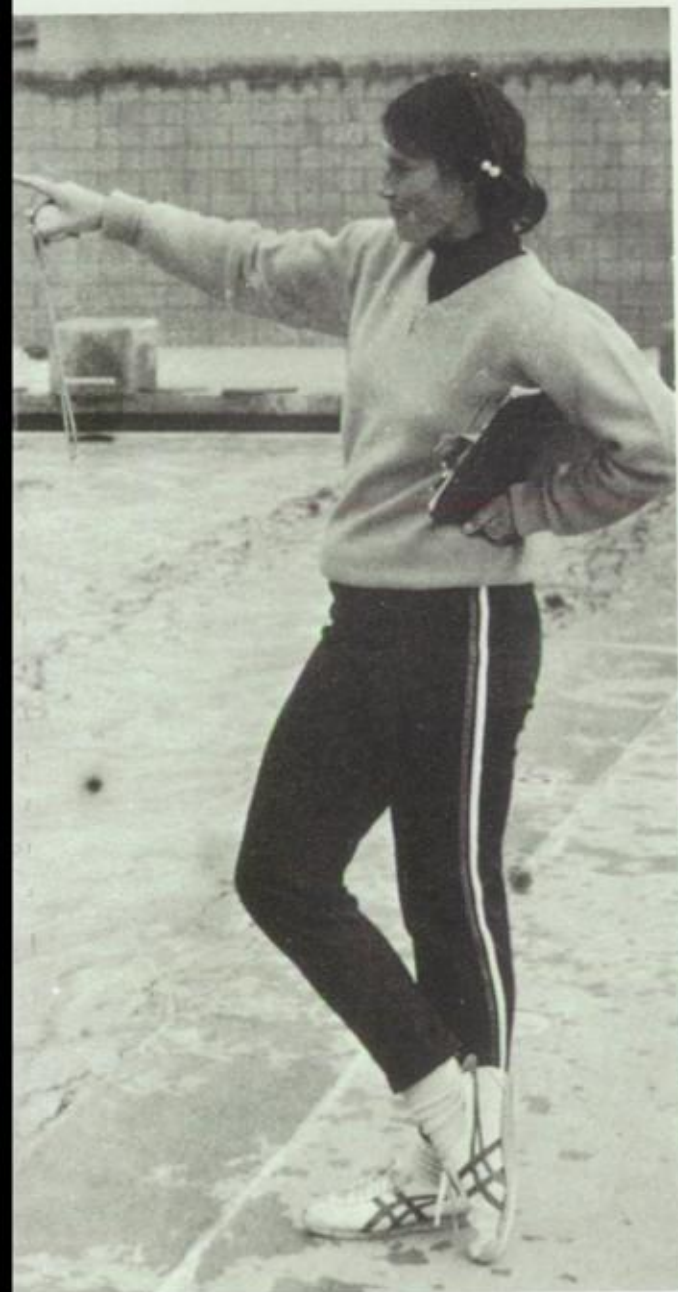

Closing her eyes and hoping for the best, Joyce Naumann glides over the hurdles (top center). No obstacle, no matter how high or big, is too great for Caryn Reed (top left). Leading the charge out of the blocks are Dawn Bonker, Barbara Milburn, Kathy Wentz and Lori Gallo (above). Running neck and neck are Dawn Bonker and Barbara Milburn (left).

Swimmers Are Competitive

The Patriot swimmers combined a team effort along with some outstanding performances to make them competitive in the league. The team swam their way to a good year that placed them well up in the final league standings. Coach Waldman proved to be a very instrumental figure in the teams fine season.

Return swimmer Tracey Woodling and foreign exchange student Ortrud Kuhn provided the strength and speed needed to win.

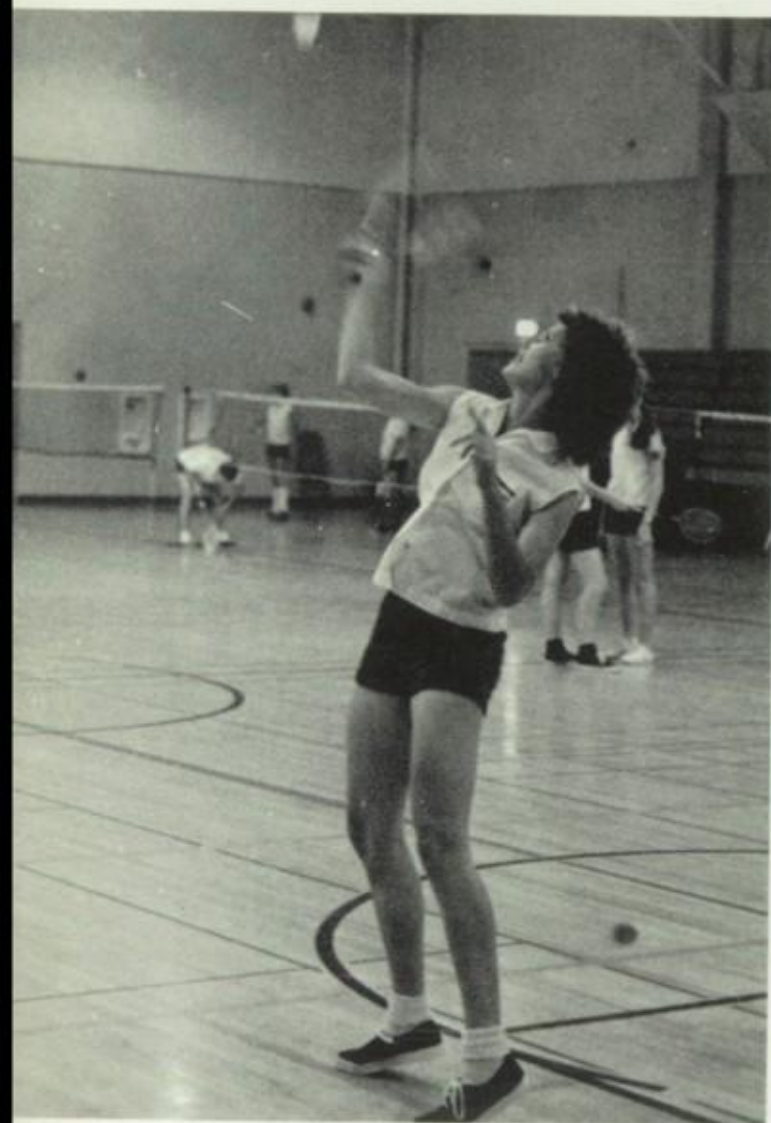

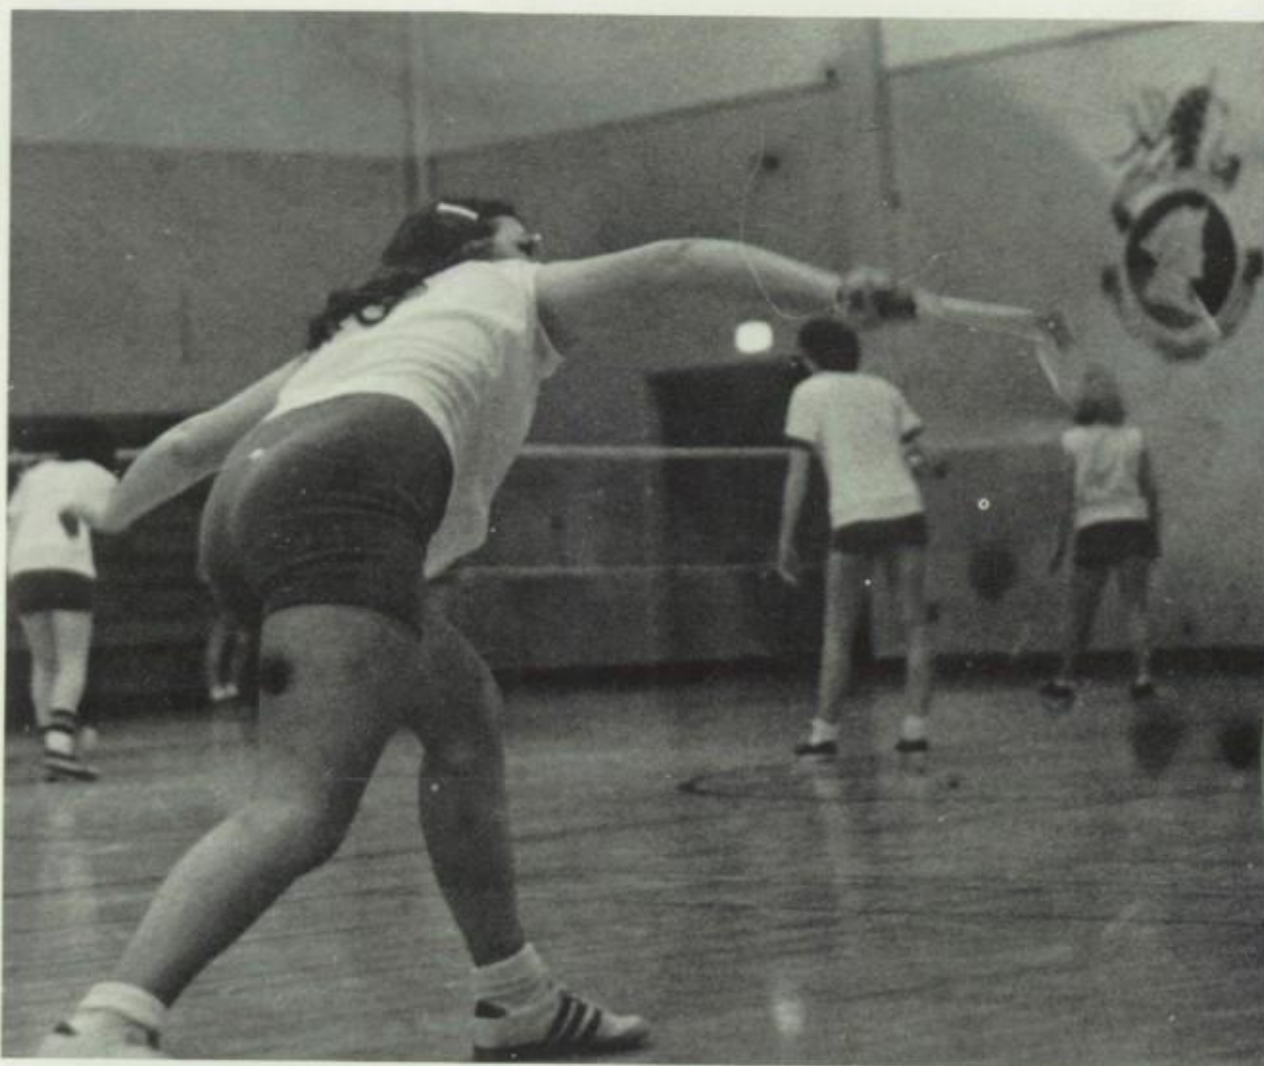

With strong concentration while waiting for that one gun shot, the Patriot swimmers are ready to pounce on the water (above left). Tracey Woodling (center) executes the perfect butterfly stroke. After diving into the water, Ortrud Kuhn starts to backstroke her way across the pool (upper right). Coach Jo Waldman (lower left) tells her swim team where to go At the blow of the gun, the swimmers (above) dive into action.

Badminton Team Lets the Birdies Fly

With outstanding performances by the number one and two singles, Joyce Naumann and Karen Agard, the badminton team completed a highly successful season. Members from the doubles teams sparked exciting highlights that made this past year interesting and very competitive. The team is under the direction of a new head coach, Miss Greene.

Working up the singles and doubles brackets is hard work, but the challenge, the fun, and the few frustrating moments that are involved make badminton the fascinating sport that it is today.

Following through after her shot is Karen Agard, one of the top badminton players (upper right). Laurie Lindenau (above) is quick to find out that this birdie doesn't chirp. Juli Barr (center) has to go up on her toes to return the birdie. Emily Scull lunges forward for a shot hit down low (lower right).

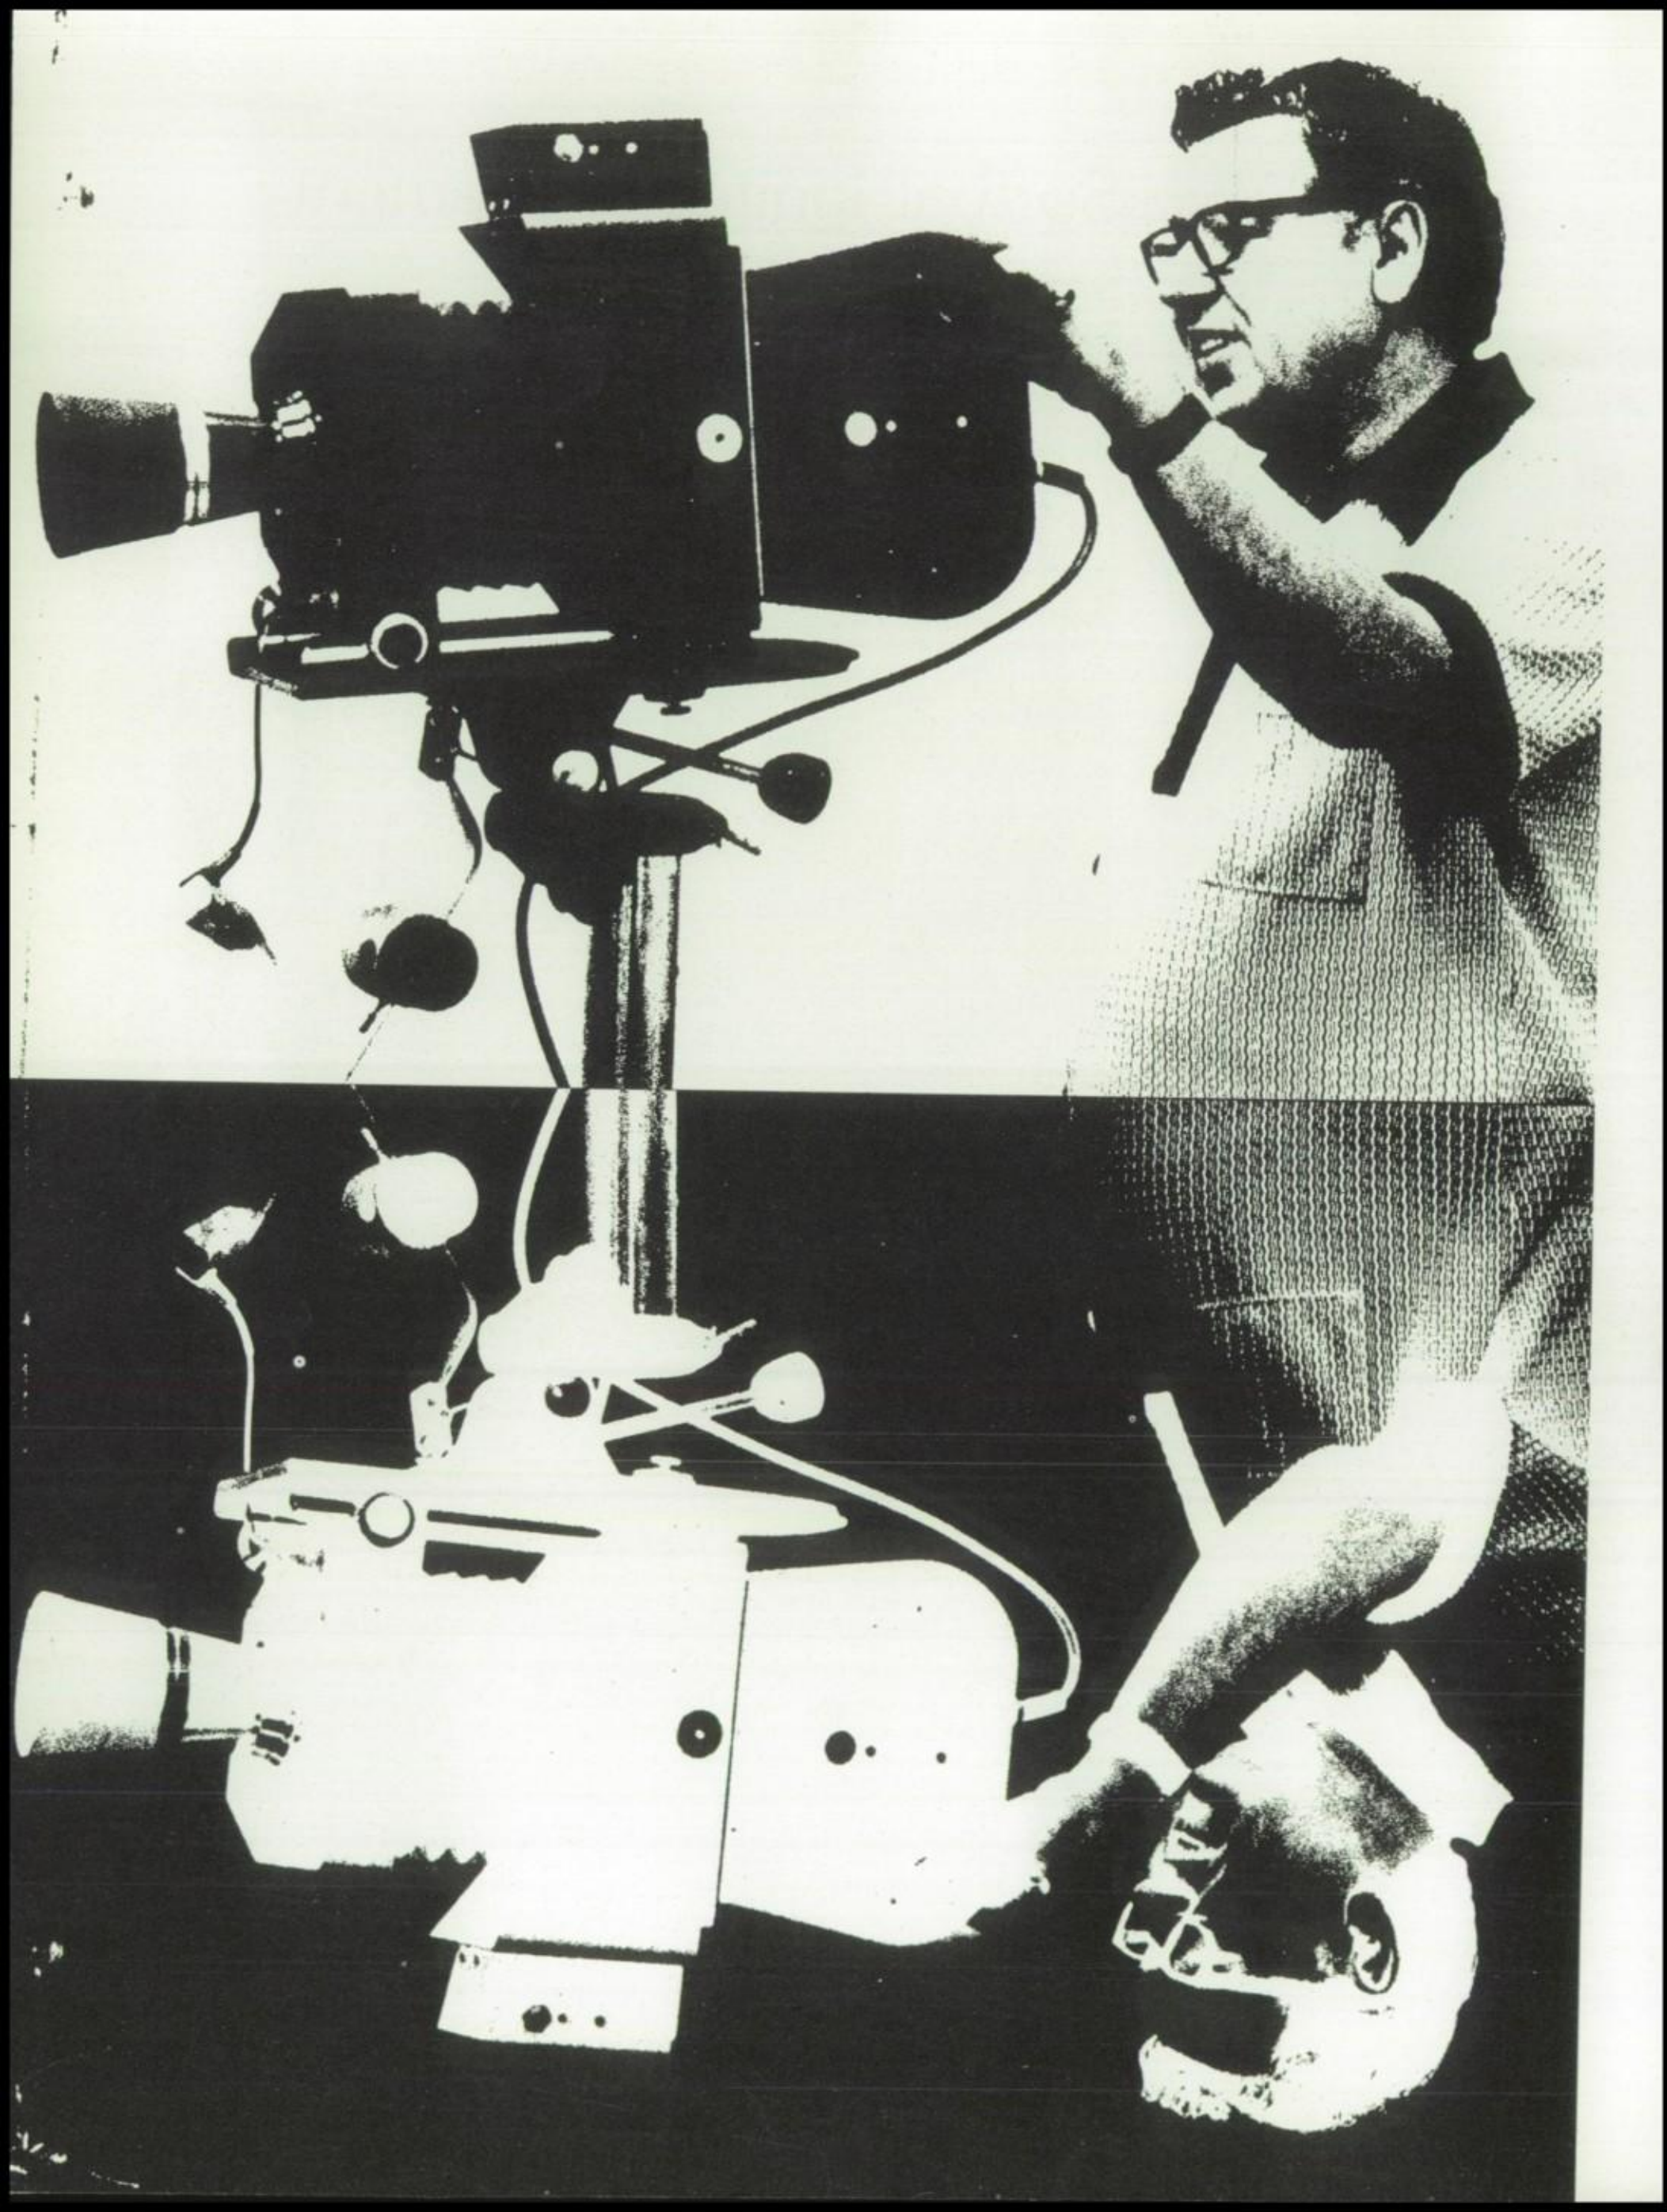

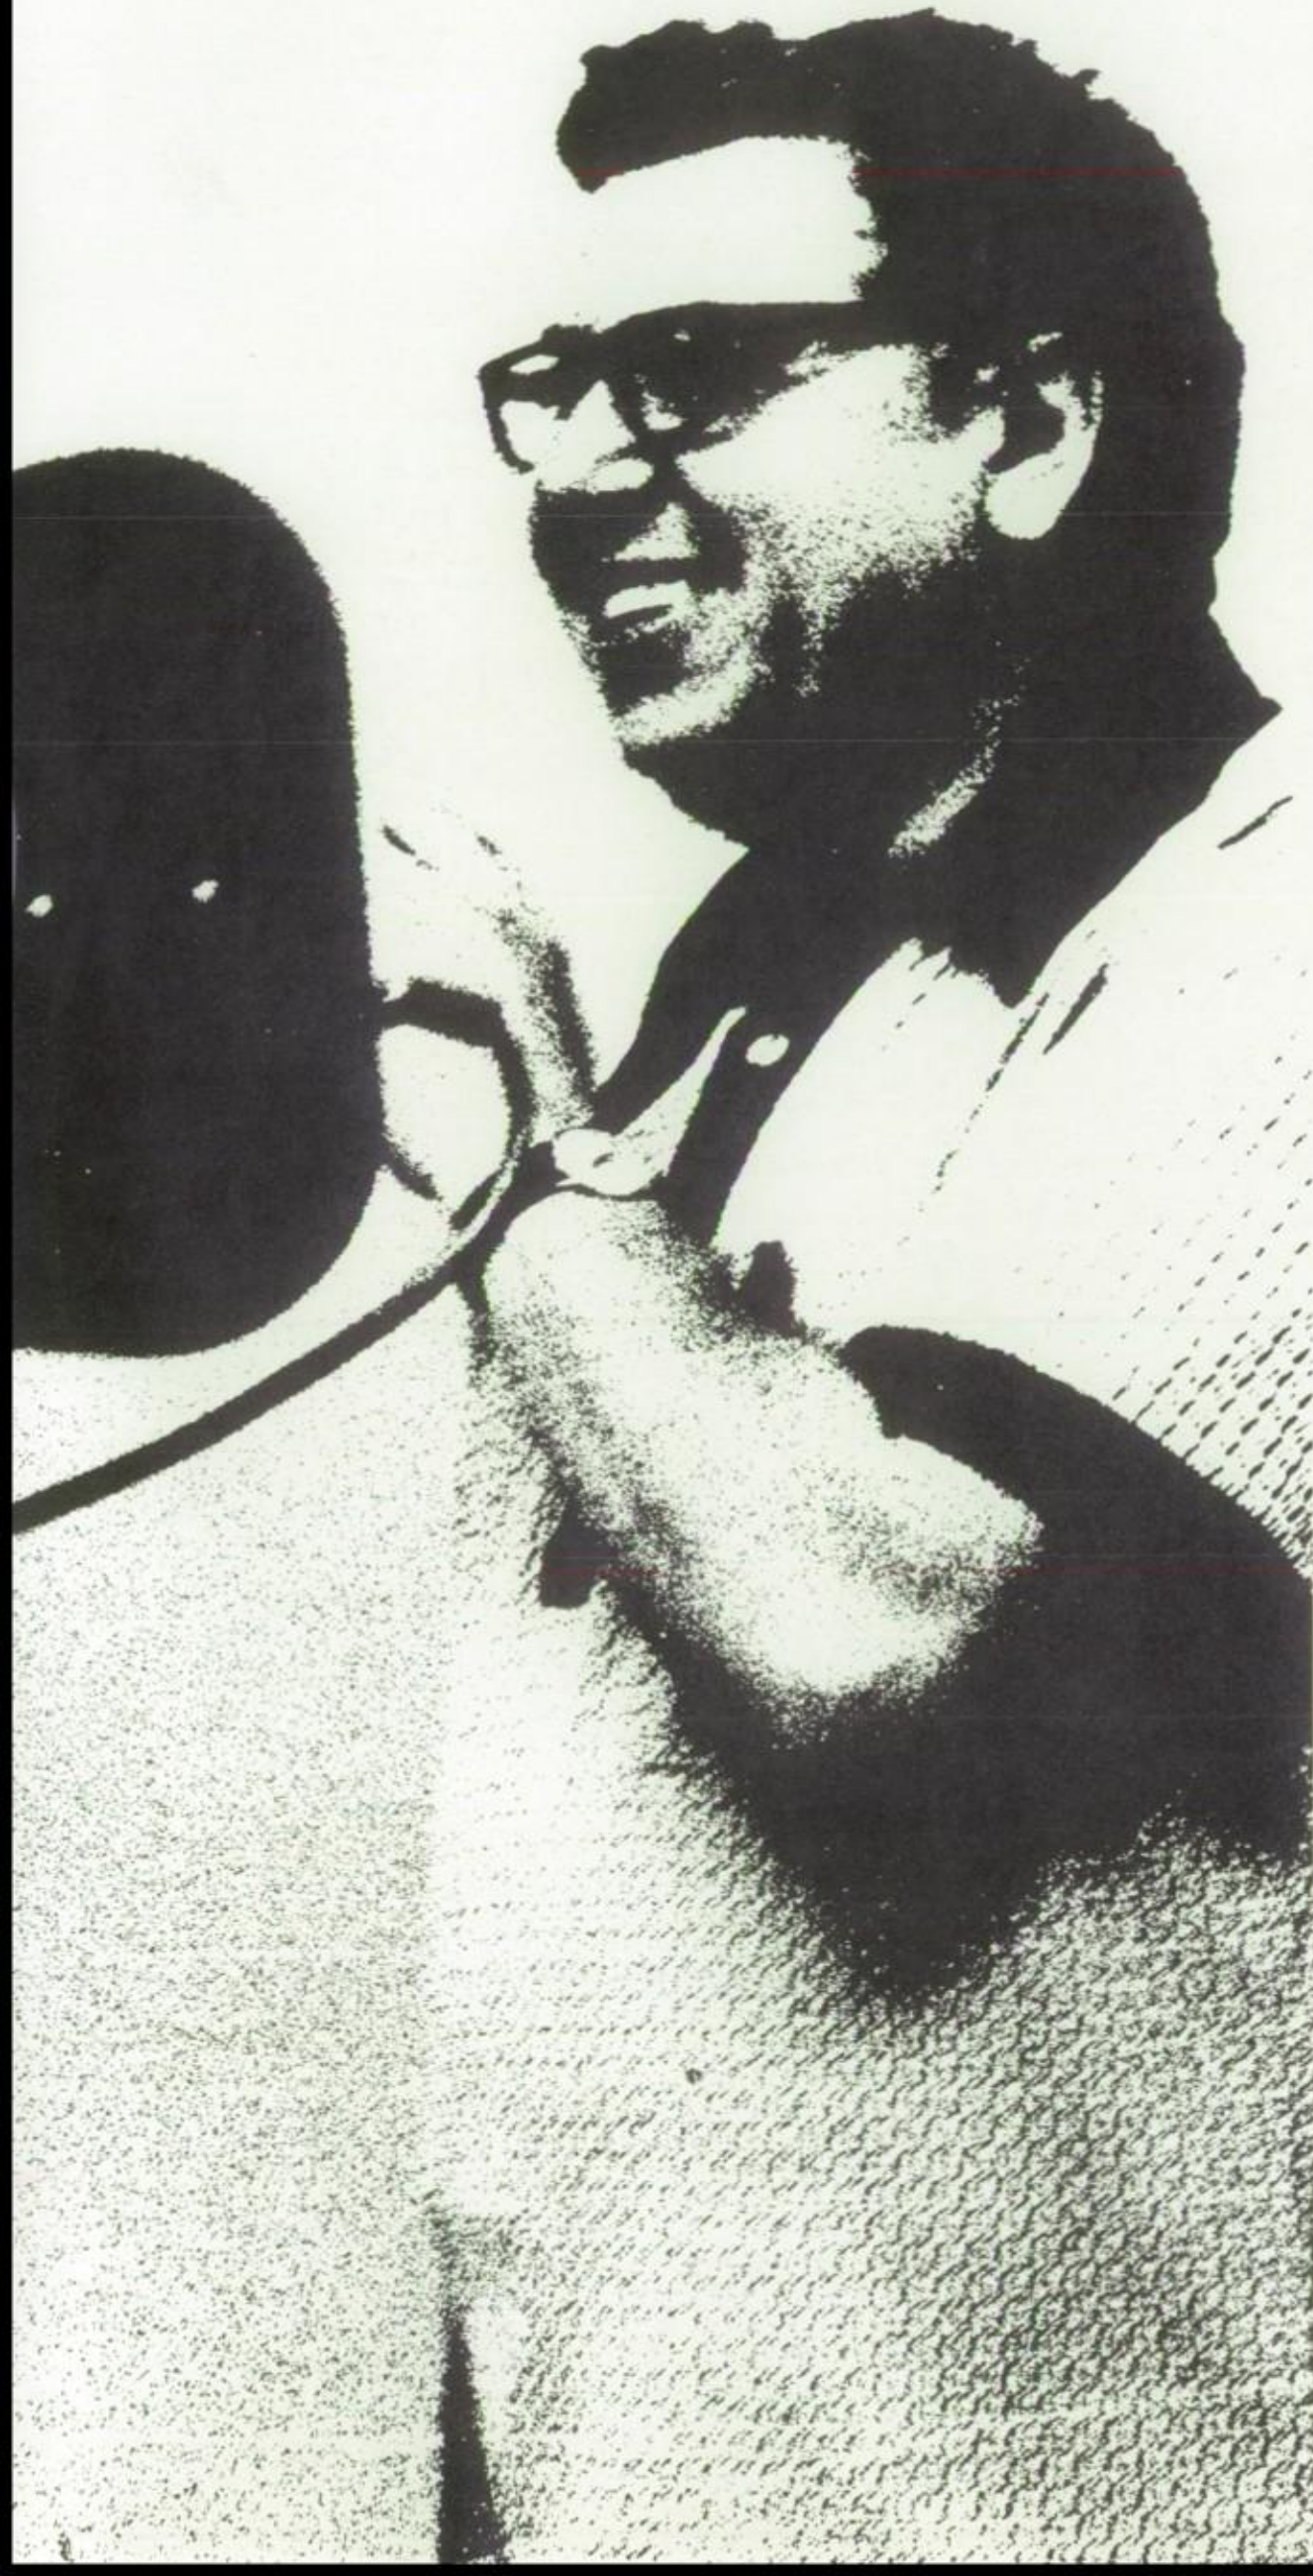

Softball Ignites Excitement

With the return of many starting players from last year and a few new faces, the softball team coached by Miss Virden, accomplished a very satisfying year. They became a threat to the other teams in the league with the excellent pitching and hitting of Linda Herz. This year's team provided the talent, finesse and experience that will be a major part in the seasons of tomorrow. These girls provide excitement and competitive play in girls softball.

As the ball is pitched (upper left), Theresa Restelli gets into position for the hit. Catcher Gina Zofrea (center) takes off to back up the throw from center. Ready or not, here I come (upper right). With a sharp "crack" of the bat, Chris Horn (above) delivers a single to left field.
